

The Process for Renting a StrikeFirst Digital Score Keeper:

1) Determine how many units are required for your tournament. The general recommendation is one per traditional ring. If there will be 20 total rings, but only 18 are used for traditional events with scorekeeping, then only 18 units are needed. The same can hold true if it is possible to move a few around. While moving them around is possible, it takes some effort to move them from ring to ring at the appropriate times. The rechargeable batteries provided with a StrikeFirst unit provide about 7 ½ hours of continuous use. Assuming that half of their time is spent turned off (or asleep) they should be more than adequate for usage on Friday night and again on Saturday. Our recommendation is that at least ¾ or more of the traditional rings should be counted toward the number needed.

2) Figure out the total cost. This is made up of two specific items:

- a) StrikeFirst unit rental. $24.⁹⁹ per unit minus any promotional discount pricing.
- b) Shipping costs from Lincoln, NE to your location and back. See table on following page.
- c) Determine if StrikeFirst can be dropped off at a UPS store, or pay for pickup from another location.

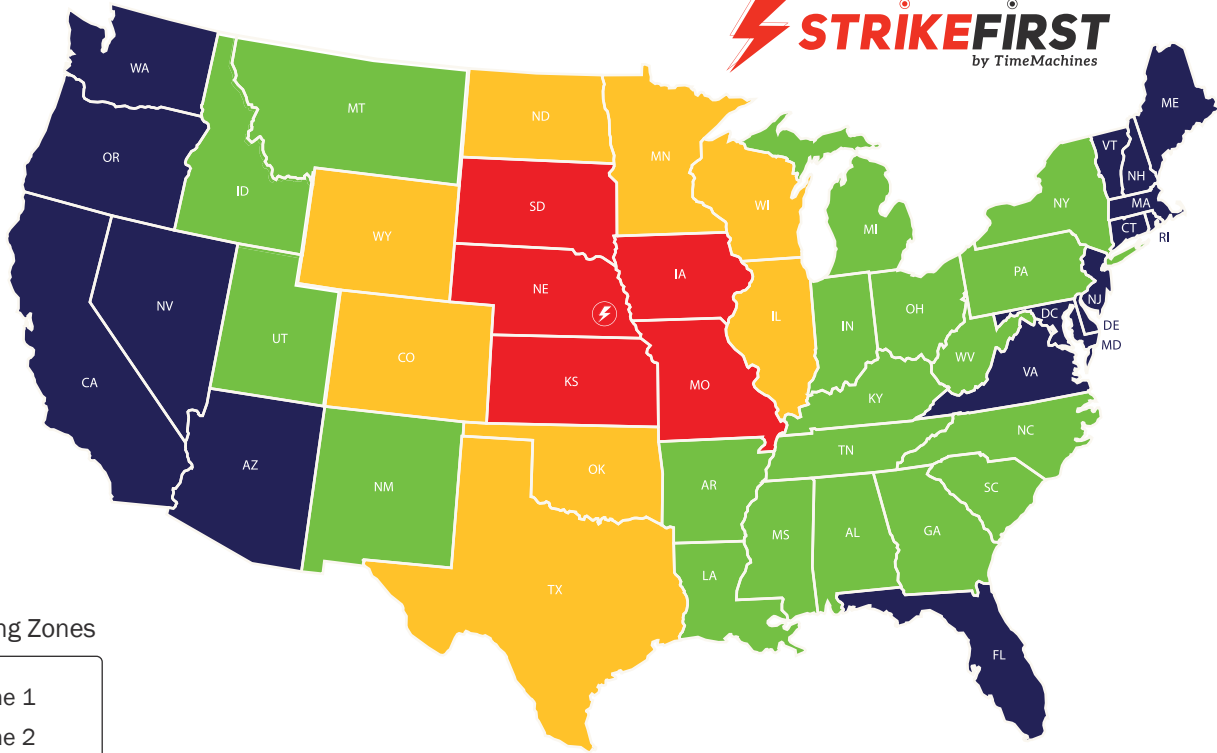

3) Review the lease, return a signed copy, and a credit card for the rental and shipping fees. This credit card is also used for any late fees or chargeable damage to the StrikeFirst rental unit(s).

4) The Monday before your event, the StrikeFirst unit(s) will be shipped to the provided address. From Lincoln, NE to any place in the continental USA is typically a maximum of four days. Each zone on the pricing map is generally one more day of shipping from Lincoln, NE. The StrikeFirst will be shipped in plastic cases with pre-cut foam to make the re-packaging very simple, providing maximum protection during shipment.

5) When the StrikeFirst(s) arrive, an inspection of all units should be completed to determine if there was any initial shipping damage. If this is not documented, it is possible a damage charge could be made to you when returned.

6) Use the StrikeFirst(s) during your event. Enjoy the added excitement of the crowd as they anticipate close matches coming to an end and competitors giving their best as time runs out.

7) After your event, collect all of the StrikeFirst(s) and return them to their shipping crates. Place the provided return UPS label(s) on the case(s) and drop off on Monday at any UPS store or shipping location. Pickup can also be arranged by contacting TimeMachines on that Monday for a small charge. It is essential that the units be returned as close to on time as possible so that they can be re-used for other rental customers. Each unit is checked for full function, batteries recharged and tested, and then made ready to go back out to another tournament. Providing as much time as possible for TimeMachines to do this, and to make sure that fellow ATA competitors get their chance to have a StrikeFirst(s) at their tournament is an excellent show of respect to fellow competitors.
